The notation includes various musical symbols such as clefs, notes, rests, and bar lines, typical of 18th-century manuscript notation.

Handwritten musical score on aged paper, featuring multiple staves with dense notation. The notation includes various note values (minims, crotchets, quavers) and rests, typical of early printed music. The score is organized into systems, with some staves containing multiple voices or parts. The ink is dark brown, and the paper shows signs of age and wear.

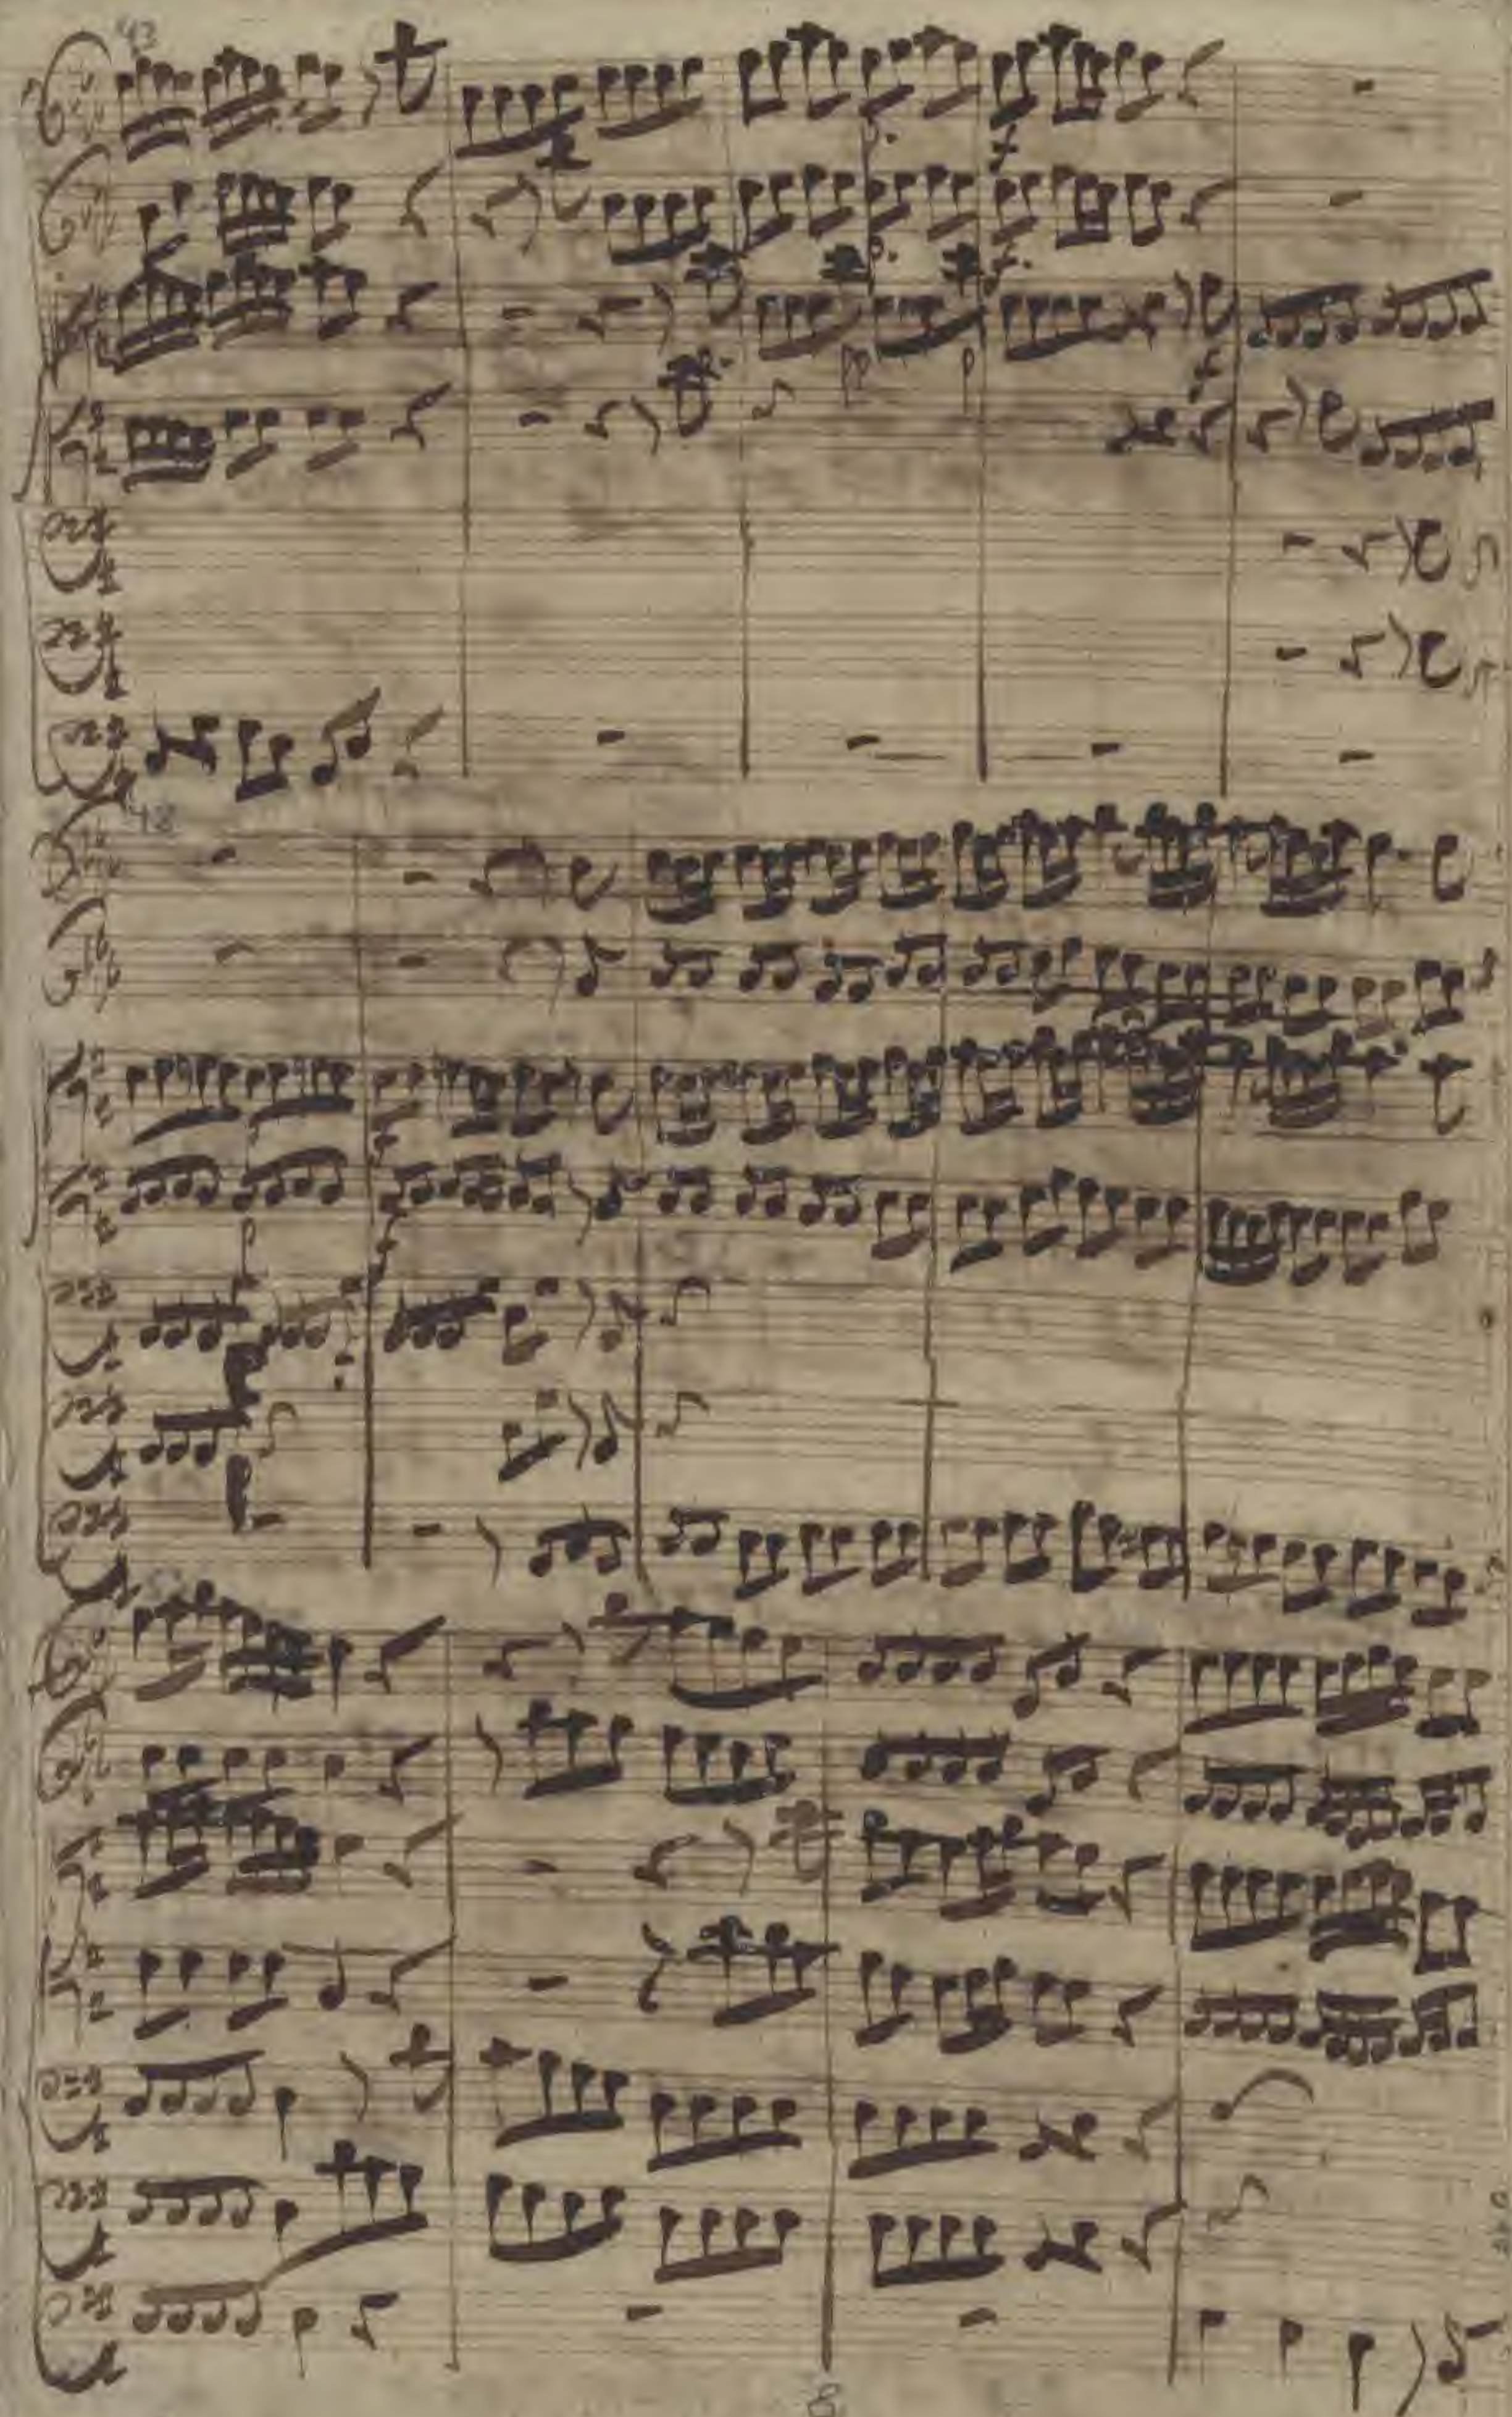

Handwritten musical score on aged paper, featuring multiple staves with musical notation and lyrics. The notation includes various note values, rests, and clefs. The lyrics are written in a historical German script, likely Fraktur. The manuscript is densely written, with some sections showing complex rhythmic patterns and dense note clusters. The paper shows signs of age, including discoloration and some staining.

This image shows a page from a handwritten musical manuscript, likely a score for a multi-part setting. The page is numbered '31' in the top left corner. It features several staves of music written in a historical notation style, possibly from the 16th or 17th century. The notation includes various note values, rests, and clefs. There are also some text fragments interspersed between the staves, which could be lyrics or performance instructions. The paper is aged and shows signs of wear, including discoloration and some staining.
